THE INSTITUT welcomes you

On behalf of the entire team of professionals at the Institut Guttmann, we are pleased to welcome you to our hospital, to thank you for the trust you have shown in us by choosing us for your rehabilitation treatment, and to express our wish that your time with us will be highly beneficial and satisfactory, both for you and for your family and loved ones.

During this time, our top priority will be to ensure your health and safety at all times, while providing you with the most advanced clinical and specialised neurorehabilitation treatments available in the world today, for which we have the best facilities and technologies adapted to your needs, but, above all, with a team of expert, highly competent and motivated professionals to offer you a quality service with great human warmth.

At the Institut Guttmann, during your rehabilitation process, we will do everything to repair your neurological injury and achieve your previous level of functionality, or as much as the injury allows. Likewise, when the after-effects are unavoidable, we will guide you and your family to adapt to the new reality so you can live as independent, inclusive and participatory a life as possible. This is our commitment.

We encourage you to establish a relationship of trust in which we will always strive to find the best solutions to any problems or doubts that may arise during your stay. And from now on, as strange as this may seem to you at this moment, we encourage you to live this stage of your life in a positive and beneficial way.

Dra. Montserrat Bernabeu
Co-Director. Care Director

Sra. Montse Caldés
Co-Director. Manager

Welcome

From the moment you are admitted, we provide you with a team of professional experts in neurorehabilitation who will ensure that your treatment is the most specialised, personalised, intensive and tailored to your needs. Both you and your family will receive not only the care we provide, but also the psychological and social support necessary to help you deal with this situation in the best possible way.

Our person-centred care model aims to empower the patient and their family, so that, based on free and informed consent, you become a key element in the decision-making process of the rehabilitation treatment, together with the team of professionals. We know from experience that a patient who actively participates in his/her rehabilitation process gains optimum results from it.

For all these reasons, it is very important that you get to know how the hospital works, get involved in your rehabilitation from the very start and share experiences with other patients and families who have either experienced this situation before or who are in the same situation as you are now. This exchange of experiences will be of great help and comfort to you.

We will try to be at your side at all times, giving you guidance in everything you need. There will be difficult moments, but together we will manage to create a positive atmosphere of respect and cordiality. The document you have in your hands will be very useful to you throughout your stay in hospital and also once you are home, so please read it carefully. We would like you to take care of the hospital and feel at home. We also hope that you will always treat each other with respect and kindness.

We are sure that day by day you will gain confidence and security, and that together we will work to restore your independence and functionality as much as possible.

It will be a pleasure to be at your side on this journey.

FIRST DAYS in hospital

Arrival at the hospital can be a time of change that both the patient and their family may experience with some anxiety. We ask you to be calm because during the first days we will get to know each other and begin to assess your needs and decide which interventions to implement.

During the first 24 hours, your doctor will visit you to make an initial assessment of your condition. You will meet your nurse, who will always be looking after your care and attention. You will get your rehabilitation plan and we will carry out all the complementary tests necessary for this comprehensive assessment. The rest of the neurorehabilitation team will visit you during the first week.

At the Institut Guttmann, family members and/or caregivers play a fundamental role in the patient's rehabilitation. Therefore, it is highly recommended that they are present from the very beginning, given that one of the functions of the nursing staff is to offer them information and to provide them with knowledge and techniques to help the patient to be as independent as possible.

The hospital's NeuroPsychosocial Area enables family members to meet and participate weekly in interactive, educational and informative work groups.

RELIGIOUS SERVICE

The hospital has an ecumenical Reflection Space for meditation, prayer, and religious services on floor (-1). Excursions outside the hospital must always be supported by medical authorisation and the corresponding passes:

➤ EXCEPTIONAL LEAVE FOR EXCEPTIONAL REASONS

Whether you are an outpatient or an inpatient, when you need to go out on an exceptional basis, you must request this from your doctor 24 hours in advance.

In all cases, before you are given permission to leave, you must read and sign a document that will be provided to you in which you declare that you are aware of and agree to assume any risk and responsibility when you are outside the hospital. Patients under 18 years of age must have a signed authorisation from their parents or guardians in order to be able to take advantage of this leave.

You will also need a pass authorised by your doctor to participate in any sporting or cultural activity outside the hospital that is part of your rehabilitation programme or the Sports & Life Guttmann Club initiative or others.

➤ WEEKEND LEAVE

During the rehabilitation process, your doctor will inform you when he or she considers that you can spend your first weekend at home. This is from Friday or Saturday, at the end of your rehabilitation treatment, until Sunday evening. You must apply to your nurse before Friday of each week.

The aim of leaving the hospital regularly is to make progress in the development of your personal autonomy, effectively gaining confidence in your own possibilities, facilitating the correct adaptation of your home, and helping normalise your relationship with your family and loved ones. In short, they help to prepare you for your return home.

➤ LEAVE PASS DURING FREE TIME

When your doctor considers that you can leave the hospital, you will be given a pass that you must personally keep and hand in when necessary.

The fact that you have this pass indicates that you have begun a new stage of rehabilitation, in which you will be able to go out in the vicinity of the hospital for a limited period, if you so wish and provided that it does not coincide with your treatment schedule, your night's rest or other activities that require your participation.

OUTPATIENT REHABILITATION

If you or your family member is starting treatment on an outpatient basis, there is some new information that it will be important for you to know:

➤ SCHEDULE

On the day treatment begins, we will personally inform you of the days and times assigned to you, as well as the team of professionals who will be attending you.

➤ PERSONAL BELONGINGS

You will have a locker in the Functional Rehabilitation Area where you can leave your personal belongings. We recommend that you always have a large towel and a complete change of clothes (T-shirt, trousers, underwear, etc.) in case it is necessary.

It is advisable to bring spare incontinence material (collector, nappies, etc.).

➤ CLOTHING AND FOOTWEAR

Remember to always wear suitable sports clothing and footwear.

➤ MEDICATION

If you need to take any medication during the rehabilitation timetable, you must bring it from home and inform the person in charge.

➤ DIET

Lunch is included in your programme. If you have any allergies or follow a special diet you will need to notify the person in charge.

➤ COMMUNICATION WITH THE TEAM

➤➤ During the first few days we will provide you with your rehabilitation programme.

PUBLIC TRANSPORT AND PARKING

For environmental and sustainability reasons, we recommend that you use public transport whenever possible. There is a city bus service from the door of the hospital to different points in Badalona and Barcelona, such as the Badalona RENFE train station, the metro and bus stops.

For more information on the public transport network, we recommend that you visit the website:

<https://www.tmb.cat/es/home>

There is a taxi rank near the hospital. If you need it, the Information desk in the lobby can arrange for a taxi.

Although we recommend that you use public transport to get to the hospital, if you or your relatives need or prefer to use a private car, we have a private car park available free of charge for people coming to the hospital (patients, relatives, hospital staff, students and other visitors). In this case, we would be grateful if you would respect the spaces reserved for ambulances and vehicles with parking cards for people with reduced mobility. Should the car park be full, we regret any inconvenience this may cause you and would like to inform you that there is a public car park, free of charge, located next to our hospital grounds.

The hospital accepts no liability whatsoever for any physical and/or material damage that may result from the use of the car parks.

MEASURES TO MAINTAIN AND PARTICIPATE IN YOUR SAFETY

The Institut Guttmann is a hospital committed to the quality and safety of its patients. The best way in which you can contribute to improving your own safety or that of your family member is by being an active member of the team alongside the professionals who care for you.

For this reason, it is very important that you and/or your family actively participate in all decisions about your care throughout the entire care process (hospitalisation, outpatient consultations and outpatient rehabilitation), including some safe practices that we recommend below.

Correct identification:

- Participate actively by providing your name, surname and date of birth to professionals before receiving procedures, treatment or interventions.
- Let us know if you detect that any of your personal identification information is incorrect.

Infection prevention:

- Make use of the hydroalcoholic solutions that are dispensed at various locations in the hospital (rooms, cafeteria/restaurant and at the entrances to the rehabilitation areas).
- Wash your hands after using the toilet and before eating.
- If you experience diarrhoea, vomiting or feel feverish, notify the nursing staff.

Prevention of falls:

- Wear closed and properly fitting footwear.
- Make appropriate use of the aids you use to move around (cane, walkers, wheelchairs...).
- Get up slowly from your bed, chair or seat to avoid dizziness and always use your stronger side.

Medication:

- Make sure your doctor and nurse are aware of all the medication you take. This includes prescription, over-the-counter, dietary supplements and homeopathy.
- Let us know if you do not understand what you are taking your medication for or if you have had any allergic reactions.
- You should be always aware of your medication, and if you notice any changes do not hesitate to ask the professionals.

Prevention of pressure ulcers:

- If possible, change position often, even when you are in bed.
- The nursing staff is available to help you change position and provide you with the necessary material support to reduce the risk of pressure ulcers during your stay.

Before you leave the hospital, please make sure that:

- You have your discharge report.
- You have the medication to take on discharge, which has been explained to you and that you understand how to take it.
- You know who to contact in case of doubts.
- You know when your next visit is due.

The Institut Guttmann's team of professionals will inform you at all times of what you need to know, however, it is very important that you play an active role in your treatment and that you bring your concerns and worries to us whenever you feel it is necessary.

ENVIRONMENT

One of the main commitments of the Institut Guttmann, as stated in its Mission, Vision and Values, is to be an organisation of excellence that is sustainable and respectful of the environment. In this sense, the organisation has ISO 14001, EMAS and ISO 50001 accreditations.

The Institut Guttmann's facilities are located within the Serra de Marina Natural Park, which is part of the Network of Protected Natural Spaces of the Diputació de Barcelona. We manage the environment efficiently in terms of consumption, waste management and the prevention of environmental impact, while at the same time promoting good environmental practices among all the entities and people who have dealings with the Institut Guttmann.

We encourage you to take these good practices into account and thank you for your collaboration:

RECYCLING POINTS

Reduce your waste as much as possible and use the recycling points provided in the hospital for proper waste separation.

HEATING AND AIR CONDITIONING

Make efficient use of air conditioning and heating, e.g. in winter open the blinds during daylight hours so that the sun naturally warms the room, and close them at night to avoid losing heat through the windows.

WATER

Do not leave the tap running when not in use. Inform the staff of any issues that arise.

LIGHT

Make the most of natural light, using artificial lighting only as a supplement. Do not leave lights on unnecessarily.

LAUNDRY

Use detergents and other environmentally friendly products and dispose of waste in the appropriate containers.

WASHING

Avoid excessive washing. If you leave your towel on the towel rack you are indicating that you do not want the towels to be changed today.

ENVIRONMENT

Take care of the surroundings of the hospital and the animals that live there.

MOBILITY

Use public or shared transport as much as possible.

PREPARING your return home

In the final stages of your hospitalisation, we will encourage you to go on a few weekend outings at home, provided that your condition allows it and the geographical conditions are favourable. This will stimulate your contact with the outside world and make it easier for you to adapt to your new reality.

Before discharge from the hospital, together with your family and with the guidance of the therapeutic team, we will begin to plan your return home. You will receive information on different aspects such as maintaining your health, preventing complications, the sexual sphere, technical aids, home adaptations, urban mobility, social benefits and community services, among others.

TRANSPORT

If you need an ambulance for discharge or to start your out-patient treatment, please contact the hospital's Admissions and Customer Service Area.

MEDICATION

Before discharge, the nursing staff will answer any questions you may have regarding medication. On the day you are discharged, you will be given your report and any electronic prescriptions you need.

Remember that your usual pharmacy will supply you with the prescribed treatment. Talk to the Nursing Department about other materials such as catheters, bags and collectors.

PRIMARY CARE DOCTOR

When you get home remember to make an appointment with your primary care doctor for follow-up care. In the event of emergency, you should always contact the emergency telephone number 112.

SPECIALIST ASSESSMENT AND SUPPORT TEAM

The Specialist Assessment and Support Team (EASE, acronym in Spanish) works inside and outside the hospital to promote the social and family reintegration of people affected by a disability of neurological origin. This team works at the different levels of the health, social health and social care network with the objectives of reintegrating the patient into their environment and guaranteeing the suitability and continuity of care, favouring the quality of care, and cooperating with professionals from different areas by transferring specific knowledge and skills.

INTENSIVE REHABILITATION PROGRAMME IN THE COMMUNITY

At the Institut Guttmann, we take rehabilitation beyond the clinical setting to encourage your participation in activities of daily living and leisure time. For this reason, and in line with the philosophy of independent living, we propose different out-of-hospital programmes that form part of your rehabilitation process and, at the same time, accompany you in the process of recovering an autonomous and satisfactory life.

The Intensive Rehabilitation Programme in the Community offers a chance to experience the model of independent living for a while through a programme of activities that seek to help individuals to get to know and obtain the maximum potential of their abilities, as well as providing them with the necessary tools for their autonomy and empowerment.

Under the guidance of professionals and monitors who are former patients of the Institut Guttmann and who have already achieved a high degree of functional autonomy and social participation, the programme combines physical training and community activities such as the use of public transport, sports and participation in cultural and leisure activities.

VOLUNTEERING, FRIENDLY SUPPORT

The work of volunteers can improve the daily lives of many of our patients and their families during their stay in the hospital. Their role complements the work of the professional team and, at the same time, responds to other needs in a more humanised environment.

The tasks that the volunteers can carry out range from accompanying patients within the hospital (walks, conversations, reading...) to external support (administrative errands, visits to other centres or sports and recreational group activities with patients and technicians). They can also provide support in workshops and other recreational activities.

If you want to be part of the volunteer service, you can write to voluntariat@guttmann.com or ask the Social Work professionals.

- The Code of Conduct for Suppliers and Collaborators, whose main objective is to ensure the integration of social responsibility criteria at all levels of the organisation's value chain. With this purpose, the Institut Guttmann works in pursuit of excellence, with its priority being achieving the highest standards of quality, maximum prevention and protection of human capital and the environment that surrounds it, and making a return to society within the principle of social commitment. [Art. 10.2 c) ORDER JUS/152/2018]

Any breach or violation of these codes must be communicated for immediate correction.

In the event that collaborating entities, patients and their families, professionals or other institutions with whom we relate have knowledge of any irregular practice related to non-compliance or violation of the behaviours contained in the Code of Ethics or the organisation's Code of Conduct, they can make it known to the Institut Guttmann through the established communication channels.

LIFE SUPPORT MEASURES

The right to personal autonomy is the right of every person to choose, at all times and with adequate information, the therapeutic procedure from all that are available and the intensity of its application.

This is your inalienable right, that can only be replaced by the will of your guardian or legal representative appointed by you in cases of severe impairment of consciousness or difficulty in decision making.

It is for this reason that we are addressing you to let you know what we have adopted in our hospital as the usual therapeutic procedure in a situation where we have to establish life support measures (cardiopulmonary resuscitation, connection to a mechanical respirator, artificial nutrition and hydration or any other measure that, if not established or withdrawn, compromises life in the very short term); in this case our procedure will be decidedly active in terms of the establishment of these measures, as long as you do not tell us otherwise.

We therefore invite you to discuss this with your doctor and to let us know what your personal choice is in this respect, which you can of course change as often as you wish while you are with us. If you do not tell us anything, we will understand that you agree with our stated action. In any case, your physician will ask you to sign the document Establishing Life Support Measures as a sign that you are aware of this information, and that you know the approach it contains.

DATA PROTECTION

This hospital, as an entity that adheres to the Code of Conduct of the Union of Catalan Hospitals, guarantees the security and confidentiality of your personal data contained in your patient file. This data will be used solely and exclusively for the purpose of providing the medical and/or health care that our users require.

Any user may, at any time, exercise the right of access, rectification, suppression, portability, limitation and opposition of their personal data supplied to the Institut Guttmann, by means of a communication addressed to the Institut Guttmann with the reference "Data processing". This communication can be made by the following means:

By email: protecciodades@guttmann.com

By post: Camí de Can Ruti, s/n 08916 Badalona.

In any case you must indicate the right you are exercising and attach a copy of your national ID card or alternative identification document.

The Institut Guttmann complies with the obligation to appoint a Data Protection Delegate duly registered with the Catalan Data Protection Agency. To contact them, please send an email to: protecciodades@guttmann.com.

ANNEX

INSTITUT GUTTMANN CODE OF ETHICS

The Institut Guttmann is aware that human relationships play a decisive role in its development and considers that respect for dignity, confidence and integrity, autonomy and non-discrimination are essential values in all its actions. Therefore, it maintains honest, ethical and responsible legal behaviour towards people with whom it has regular contact and from whom it expects similar behaviour.

The Institut Guttmann is a private Catalan non-denominational, non-profitmaking, social initiative entity that is totally committed to strict compliance with legal and ethical conduct rules. These rules are present in all the entity's actions and govern all its relationships with people with disabilities of a neurological origin and their families (who are the reason it exists), as well as with its employees and collaborators (all of whom are essential to achieve the institution's mission), and also with the different authorities, institutions, entities, companies or individuals it interacts with.

The Institut Guttmann's commitment is defined in its articles of association as well as in its institutional mission, vision and values, and this is highlighted in its organisational rules and procedures. These ethical commitments go beyond legal and administrative requirements, good practice and the Protectorate of Foundations.

The Institut Guttmann, therefore, voluntarily and periodically:

- Audits its annual accounts through an independent company, in order to guarantee rigorous, efficient, prudent and austere financial, patrimonial and fiscal management.
- Submits its structure, organisational model and procedures before national and international accreditation organisations for certification of the safety and quality of its medical, scientific and teaching activities.
- In the field of neurorehabilitation, systematically evaluates the functional, psychological and social integration results of the medical care process and compares them with those of other leading hospitals in this speciality.
- Exercises a policy of total transparency of information through the annual publication of its Social Report, in which all the activities it has carried out, the results achieved and the methods employed are presented in an appropriate, clear and honest way.
- Through its adherence to the Code of Conduct of the Union of Catalan Hospitals, guarantees proper information management, and the confidentiality and protection of personal data.
- Through the Healthcare Ethics Committee, promotes the protection of individuals' rights, respect for their dignity and basic principles of autonomy, welfare, non-maliciousness and justice obtained through any given care procedure. This is achieved by means of special consideration to the correct use of informed consent; whilst striving for the accurate use of clinical procedures when treating its patients and necessary diligence in clinical research proceedings.
- Offers a document titled Information Dossier, aimed at patients receiving care at the hospital, which protects and explains further the rights and obligations of patients and their families. This document is given to patients upon arrival at the hospital and it includes a section on "Patient rights and requirements", as well as established procedures for registering complaints and suggestions.
- Compiles an account of all its activities and submits its main projects, so its addressees can form an opinion, through the Institut Guttmann Social and Participation Council. The Council was created on the Institut Guttmann's own initiative. The main associations for people with disabilities in Catalonia, the relevant public administrations and experts are all represented in it.

In all its areas of activities, the Institut Guttmann will uphold special sensitivity and attention to emerging social needs, particularly in areas relating to people with functional diversity, and will promote the values of tolerance, respect for the dignity and autonomy of all individuals irrespective of their personal, financial and social circumstances, and cultural diversity as a social asset. In all its initiatives, alongside accomplishing its foundational aims, it will work to be an example of an organisation which is responsible, enterprising, supportive, and aware of new social needs, as well as committed to people, the progress of the society as a whole and environmental preservation.

Concerning clinical matters:

- The Institut Guttmann's commitment, which incorporates the entire medical team, is that of providing everybody who attends with the best and most comprehensive medical/rehabilitation attention, offering the highest human, scientific and technical standards to help patients to achieve the highest possible functional independence and boost their self-esteem. With proper guidance regarding the defence of their rights, patients are encouraged, conditions permitting, to achieve a satisfactory, active and self-managed return to society.
- The relationship with patients will be based on comprehensive criteria of total respect for the dignity of the individual as their condition develops, maintaining the highest possible level of personal autonomy whenever needed and attending to their capacities through informed consent, whilst guaranteeing non-discrimination based on gender, origin, race, ethnic origin, culture, religion, socio-economic status, functional diversity or any other personal or social circumstances.
- Patients' religious, ideological and cultural beliefs will be respected, as long as they do not conflict with the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, current legislation or third-party rights.
- All efforts will be made to achieve a "patient/family – therapeutic team" relationship based on trust, confidentiality and mutual respect. These efforts should carry precise, truthful, prudent and clear information relating to the patient's state of health as well as clinical and prognostic procedures as a key factor. Information should be carefully given in order for it not to be detrimental to the patient.

Concerning research matters:

- Rigorous, strict and responsible research activity will be encouraged, especially clinical and translational aspects, covering various products, procedures, techniques and/or technologies applicable to the field of neuro-rehabilitation. This should centre around the recovery of health and bodily functions and improving quality of life for people with severe disabilities of a neurological nature. Furthermore, it should also contribute to the study of various biopsychosocial factors that influence social integration.
- All research studies must receive prior approval as well as supervision and guidance from the Research and Education Committee and the Healthcare Ethics Committee, both belonging to the Institut Guttmann, and an external Ethics and Clinical Research Committee when concerning clinical trials.
- Principles of welfare, judicial aspects (assessing risks/benefits) and voluntariness, by means of the corresponding informed agreement, will be guaranteed in all research procedures. The confidentiality and privacy of participants and their personal data will be maintained.

Concerning educational matters:

- The Institut Guttmann will favour the creation and transfer of knowledge and skills relevant to neurorehabilitation by developing mainly multidisciplinary educational programmes in extended and compulsory teaching alike. The programmes will be geared toward students willing to start to learn about this field of knowledge and to professionals wishing to develop an in-depth knowledge of this speciality, whilst demonstrating their institutional values and ethical norms.

Concerning social matters:

- In all its activities, the Institut Guttmann will have a proactive attitude towards the defence of rights and an effective balance of opportunities for people with disabilities, and will also contribute to the generation of favourable attitudes for their complete and effective participation and social integration through actions of prevention, dissemination and raising awareness.
- In accordance with its possibilities, the Institut Guttmann will attempt to give support to and play a major role in the associative movement of people with functional diversity resulting from an acquired neurological injury, and in the promotion and improvement of their living conditions in line with the paradigms of personal autonomy, independent living, self-management and social integration.

Concerning occupational matters:

- The staff team is the Institut Guttmann's most valued asset. The human quality of every one of its members, their professional competence and their individual attitude are essential elements in achieving all the institutional objectives.
- The Institut Guttmann will foster a professional environment based on the confidence and cohesion of each one of its team members and on the establishment of an atmosphere of mutual respect that stimulates companionship. The professional environment will strengthen the capabilities, proficiency and skills of their members whilst respecting individuality and recognising and rewarding good performance by offering opportunities for professional development and personal growth, participation in the decision-making process and their commitment to the institutional mission, vision and values.
- The Institut's occupational policy, absolutely respectful with the law and proactive in the prevention of occupational risks, encourages the staff, professionals and collaborators to do their work in an environment of safety, comfort, initiative, cooperation, quality and responsibility. They will all have the same work and promotion opportunities irrespective of their gender, origin (including ethnic or racial), marital status, age, social or financial status, disability, religion or beliefs, political ideas, sexual orientation, membership or lack thereof of unions and their agreements, family ties with other employees of the organisation or whatever other personal or social circumstances.
- In order to strengthen the ethical commitment and avoid possible or apparent conflicts of loyalty or vested interests which might tarnish its good image, the Institut Guttmann has prohibited all its staff, professionals and collaborators from:
 - Mutual concurrence in care activities carried out by the Institute, whether done for themselves or a third party.
 - Taking part in expert or judicial procedures requested by any side. When requested, this will be done by a judge and any involvement will be as a professional of the hospital.
 - Receiving, under any circumstance, remuneration or payment in money or in kind, from any organisation, provider or client of the hospital. Only gifts or rewards with low monetary value can be accepted.

- With regard to new employment opportunities, the Institut Guttmann, in keeping with its foundational objective, will positively discriminate in favour of candidates with a certified disability, provided that they are duly qualified, and that their personal profile and capacities are suitable to carry out the job at hand.
- All professionals and collaborators that form part of the Institut Guttmann's team have the right and the requirement to know and comply with this Code of Ethics, raise any questions and make any suggestions or proposals for change that they deem appropriate, and report any non-compliance or presumed non-compliance to contribute to improving the Institut and the people who carry out their professional activity therein.
- Every effort will be made to ensure that these codes of ethics and conduct, as well as their benefits to the professional environment and workplace, will encompass all professionals and collaborators of subcontracted companies that carry out their work in the Institut Guttmann's own facilities. Therefore, the Institut will seek the best possible integration and cooperation amongst everybody, irrespective of the company they belong to, whilst guaranteeing that these companies' personnel policies do not conflict with this Code of Ethics, or with all other institutional values.

Concerning business matters:

- Through its business practices, the Institut Guttmann strives to be a centre of excellence. Therefore, it will foster prudent, efficient, transparent and responsible management and high standards of the services that it offers, by responding efficiently to the changing needs of modern society and representing a positive influence on society.
- The Institut Guttmann, as it has done since the hospital opened in 1965, reconciles the provision of public and private health services, ensuring equal access in each of the two areas and ensuring, in both cases, quality and personalised treatment, whilst searching for a positive synergy that promotes the Institut's sustainability and potential for innovation. Access to the private area can come from activity contracted with mutual companies, mandatory or voluntary private insurance companies, and directly via the patient, from Spain or overseas, accessing the healthcare services of the Institut Guttmann in any its portfolio of services in a free, informed and voluntary way. According to the Law of Foundations and its own original Statutes, all the resources obtained by the Institut Guttmann will be reinvested in the institution to better achieve the aims of the Foundation.
- All the business practices of the Institut Guttmann will be carried out ethically with strict compliance to applicable laws and regulations. It will not seek nor accept any business opportunity or competitive advantage that goes against its Code of Ethics and its institutional values.
- Relationships with third parties and other organisations will be established on fair and transparent foundations, adhering to institutional objectives, to provide mutual benefits. Under no circumstance will it maintain relationships or links with other organisations that could cause conflict of intentions, objectives and/or institutional values.
- The Institut Guttmann requires that all its suppliers and collaborators share a mutual approach of integrity in all its commercial relationships, a total respect of current regulations and, especially, those that refer to the obligation to employ disabled people, as well as those that refer to protecting childhood and the environment.

- Its buildings, facilities and equipment, which will always be adapted to accessibility and universal design criteria, will be meticulously managed in order to provide the highest levels of safety, comfort, functionality and efficiency for patients, visitors, professionals and collaborators alike.
- It will adopt a proactive approach to environmental protection. It will make rational use of non-renewable energies and water as a scarce resource. It will seek to avoid the use of polluting products or devices, and it will scrupulously handle perilous residues and other dangerous materials with strict adherence to applicable regulations.

Concerning civil society:

- The Institut Guttmann wishes to be an example of an attentive, progressive, enterprising, innovative, multicultural and charitable attitude in civil society, whilst also being a positive influence for all other social initiatives.
- It will maintain cooperative relationships and will seek synergies that generate mutual benefits, preferably with entities coinciding in terms of aims and institutional values and similar working methods.
- It will attempt to know the origin of donations received and will not accept any aid arising from activities that are criminal or contrary to human rights or those that go against its values.
- The Institut Guttmann will preserve its legal status as a non-profit making private entity which was founded within the civil society which it owes a debt to as one of its most valuable assets; and it will therefore act according to its Statutes, totally independently of any other organisation, entity or institution, and from its free and supreme right to take decisions, it will establish solid cooperation relationships with the different public authorities and other public and private entities, both in the defence and promotion of the common good and in carrying out its foundational purposes as well as possible.

The FUNDACIÓ INSTITUT GUTTMANN Board of Trustees is responsible for approving the current Code of Ethics and for ensuring its validity and compliance.

The members of the Board will exercise their role in a spirit of service, in an efficient, altruistic and responsible manner, loyal to its foundational will and to its institutional objectives and values. Both individual members of the Board and representatives from public or private organisations will work with absolute loyalty and independence in the interest of the Institut Guttmann.
